

FALLOW DEER – Dama dama

WHERE DO THEY LIVE?

UK FALLOW DEER DISTRIBUTION

©The British Deer Society 2011

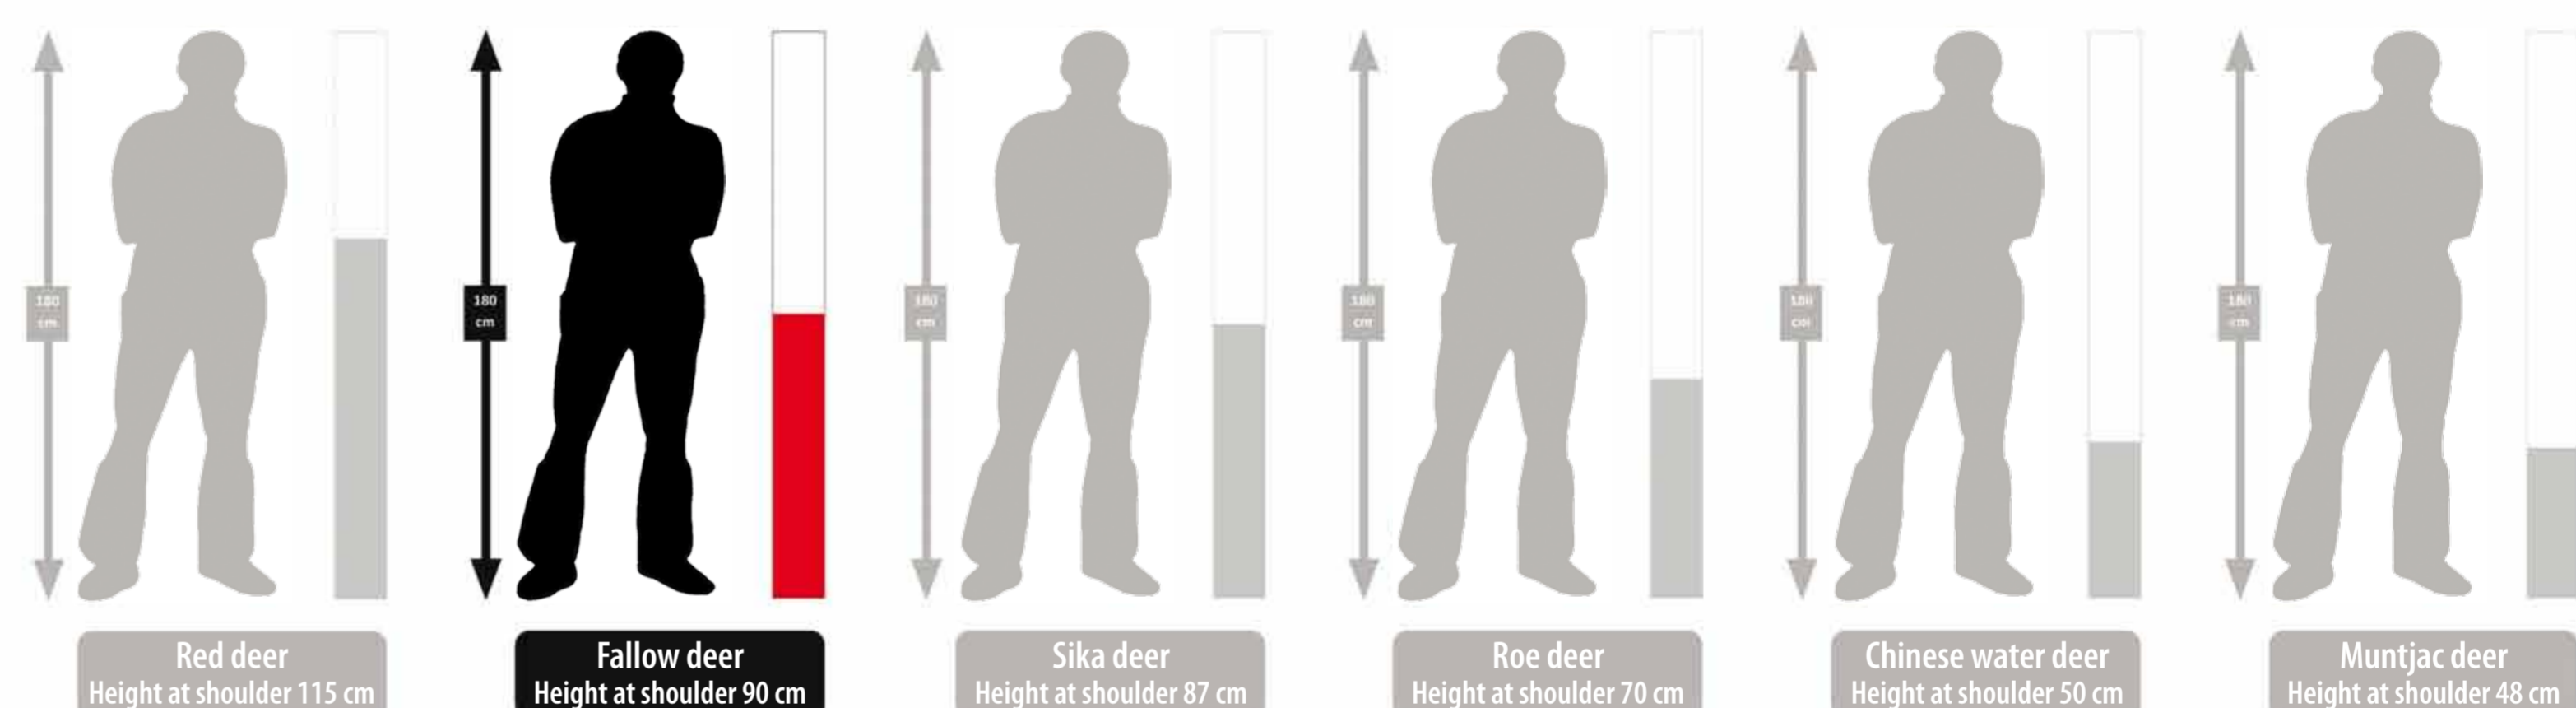

DID YOU KNOW?

Fallow deer:

- are very common in Britain but not truly native, arriving in the 11th century or earlier
- are the only deer in the UK with obvious palmate antlers
- have four coat variations: tan with white spotting which fades in winter, pale tan which retains its spots, almost black, and white. The different varieties are known as: common, menil, melanistic and white

HOW BIG ARE THEY?

Young (fawns) born in June or July.

Mainly found in broadleaved woodland with thick low-level vegetation.